

Enrollment: Study Abroad by Location

Information:

This report contains the number of students who studied abroad in each academic year, by academic term, geographic region, and location. This report was organized in accordance with the International Programs office which operates on a leading-summer academic year (i.e., the 2021-22 academic year includes Summer 2021, Fall 2021, and Spring 2022).

Updates to this report are issued once a year around spring 10th day.

All counts and totals are unduplicated within rows; that is, each student is only counted once within a country's row, and once within the academic year's grand totals.

Column & Row Definitions

- Single Term includes individual columns for students who studied abroad in the Summer, Fall, or Spring term.
- Multiple Terms includes individual columns for students who studied abroad in the Summer and Fall terms, the Summer and Spring terms (uncommon), the Fall and Spring terms, or All Terms.
- AY Total, the academic year total, includes any student who spends the fall and spring terms abroad in a same country (or in a multi-country program). Hence, the fall and spring column header includes AY Total in parentheses.
- Grand Totals include unduplicated totals of students studying abroad in each of the Single Term and Multiple Terms columns, as well as the overall academic year. Students studying abroad in more than one term and country/program are included in the counts of two or more country/program rows, but are tallied only once for the Grand Totals in the All Terms column.
- Single Country and Multi-Country: Most study abroad programs involve travel to a single country, though some programs travel to multiple countries. Students participating in single-country programs are counted in the tallies for the individual country they traveled to. Students participating in multiple-country programs are counted in tallies for the program itself, all of which are listed in the Multi-Country category. Currently, the Multi-Country group consists of four programs: the CGEE Central America program, the CGEE Southern Africa program, the Pacific Rim Program (typically every third year), and the International Honors Program/Health and Community program.
- Faculty Led Class Programs: Students participating in courses that travel abroad led by Puget Sound faculty members and not otherwise counted in the traditional study abroad programs listed above. Faculty-Led counts were added to the report beginning in the 2021-2022 academic year.

Dashes (--) are used in cases where the country/program did not have any student participants in that academic year. This is to enhance readability of the report by eliminating rows of zeroes.

Definition(s): Study abroad is defined as an arrangement by which a student completes part of the college program studying in another country. This can be completed at a campus abroad, or through a cooperative agreement with another U.S. college or a foreign institution.

Locations (and programs) were grouped into geographic regions in accordance with the International Programs office's Study Abroad program listings on the University of Puget Sound website.
